Jeremy Gottlieb concentrates his practice on a wide variety of investment management-related matters, including counseling investment advisers and registered investment companies on legal, regulatory and transactional matters.

Jeremy previously served as an intern at the Office of Public Integrity & Accountability, Conviction Review Unit, for the New Jersey Attorney General's Office, where he reviewed claims of actual innocence. He also gained experience as a legal intern for a large car company, where he conducted legal research and assisted with internal investigations. Prior to this, Jeremy worked as a litigation claims adjuster at one of the largest insurers in the United States.

At Rutgers Law School, Jeremy was a legal teaching fellow and a member of the Hunter Moot Court program.
