

Catherine Gran

Counsel

New York, New York

212.812.4135

cgran@stradley.com

Catherine Gran concentrates her practice on real estate and financial services litigation, with a primary focus on litigating cases involving foreclosures from inception through trial and mediating complex issues to resolve highly litigated cases.

Prior to joining Stradley Ronon, Catherine was an associate attorney at two New York area law firms with a concentration in real estate and foreclosures. She was also an in-house compliance attorney for a regional bank in New York. She graduated from Washington University School of Law and earned her B.A. in European History from Washington and Lee University. She also completed the Virginia Program at Oxford University in the United Kingdom.

RECOGNITIONS

- Pro Bono Representation Award - Nassau County Bar Association

FOCUS

Financial Services Litigation
Litigation
Real Estate
Bankruptcy, Workouts & Creditors' Rights

BAR ADMISSIONS

New York

EDUCATION

J.D., Washington University School of Law – St. Louis
B.A., Washington and Lee University

MEMBERSHIPS

New York Bar Association
Albany Bar Association

