Tyler Lisea concentrates his practice on civil litigation matters with a particular focus on securities, employment and labor, and litigation in state and federal court and in arbitration.

In law school, Tyler externed for U.S. District Judge Otis Wright II of the Central District of California. He authored appellate briefs and argued before the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit as part of the Ninth Circuit Appellate Advocacy Clinic at Pepperdine Caruso School of Law, which provides representation in civil rights cases for clients who cannot afford private counsel.

Tyler also obtained a certificate of dispute resolution from Pepperdine Caruso Law's internationally recognized Straus Institute for Dispute Resolution. He was also the lead articles editor for Pepperdine Law Review.

Prior to joining Stradley Ronon, Tyler was an associate at a midsize California-based law firm. He also previously worked in the technology sector for five years.
