Timothy routinely counsels financial services institutions on matters involving commercial lending, contested and non-contested foreclosures, consumer finance and other litigation issues arising from the origination and servicing of residential mortgages. He has experience drafting and responding to pleadings, conducting discovery, and drafting motions and briefs at the trial and appellate levels.

Prior to joining Stradley Ronon, Timothy was an associate at a national law firm, where he represented insurance carriers in first-party bad faith and breach of contract lawsuits as well as lawsuits arising from third-party claims. During law school, Timothy served as an intern for Judge Christine Nowak, former magistrate judge of the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Texas.

RESULTS

- Obtained dismissal of bad faith allegations, including fraud and DTPA claims through summary judgment.
- Drafted a motion for summary judgment that led to the plaintiffs dismissing the lawsuit.

IN THE COMMUNITY

Timothy served as an AmeriCorps volunteer at an Austin, Texas-area high school, where he assisted underserved students in the college application process.
